Minneapolis
Join the experts in the Minneapolis area for the 2016 ACG Midwest Regional Postgraduate Course, August 27-28, at the brand new Hyatt Regency Bloomington-Minneapolis. Experts from across the U.S. will offer greater understanding of the latest clinical updates and how to apply them to practice. Led by Course Directors Aasma Shaukat, MD, MPH, FACG, and Tedd P. Cain, MD, FACG, topics include: dyspepsia; pharmacological, dietary, and non-pharmacological management of IBS; dysplasia in IBD; diverticular disease; endoscopic and surgical options for difficult-to-treat GERD; EoE; Barrett’s esophagus; cystic lesions of the pancreas; acute pancreatitis; case-based approach to high-resolution esophageal manometry; EMR and ESD; non-pharmacological management options for IBD; polypectomy techniques for small and large, complex polyps; improving ADR with technology and other interventions; serrated lesions; genetic syndromes in CRC; and liver diseases. In addition, the College will offer hands-on sessions where experts will demonstrate mucosal ablation, EMR and ESD, hemostasis techniques, foreign body removal, and ERCP.

Located near the Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport, the Hyatt Regency Bloomington-Minneapolis is in the heart of it all. The hotel has free shuttle service to the Mall of America, which offers something for everyone. Swim with the sharks at SEA LIFE® Minnesota Aquarium, see a movie at the Theatres at Mall of America, and enjoy over 50 dining options, including the South Street dining area, where quick-serve and sit-down options can be found in one convenient location. The annual Minneapolis State Fair, also known as the “Great Minnesota Get-Together,” will be going on during the course. Enjoy the many events and activities on the 320-acre fairgrounds, which are famous for their beautiful gardens and architecture. The Minneapolis State Fair is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the region! Also in the Minneapolis area are the Walker Art Center, the Minneapolis Institute of Art, and Target Field, home of the Minneapolis Twins.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
The field of gastroenterology continues to experience an introduction of new and novel diagnostic techniques and therapeutic options affecting numerous areas of GI disease management and patient care. This program is designed to explore those areas which the gastroenterologist often faces in clinical practice and will address management updates in a variety of gastrointestinal and hepatic areas. During the program, several broad topics will be explored, including: dyspepsia; pharmacological and dietary and non-pharmacological management of IBS; dysplasia in IBD; diverticular disease; endoscopic and surgical options for difficult-to-treat GERD; EoE; Barrett’s esophagus; cystic lesions of the pancreas; acute pancreatitis; case-based approach to high-resolution esophageal manometry; EMR and ESD; non-pharmacological management options for IBD; polypectomy techniques for small and large, complex polyps; improving ADR with technology and other interventions; serrated lesions; genetic syndromes in CRC; and liver diseases. The structure of the program includes a mix of didactic presentations delivered by expert faculty, significant question and answer periods, smaller afternoon general sessions, and non-CME hands-on sessions.

This program is designed for gastroenterologists, primary care physicians, nurses, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners interested in the latest information on diagnostic GI and state-of-the-art treatment of these illnesses.

Hands-on Workshops: Hands-on sessions are offered at no charge to all course attendees so they can experience first-hand specific and often challenging endoscopic procedures. It is an opportunity to gain tactile experience using a variety of tools and techniques. Faculty will present an overview of the device or technique and a demonstration using the device. Attendees then have an opportunity to practice using the equipment. In addition, attendees will benefit from Q & A with experts during the session. While no CME is offered for hands-on sessions, they provide valuable experiential learning.

Four hands-on sessions will be offered. Each session will offer six hands-on stations. There are limited spaces available. To ensure you can participate in one of the hands-on sessions, please select your top two choices on the registration form. The College will assign attendees to sessions based on availability of their top station choices.

Hepatitis School: Held one day prior to ACG’s Midwest Regional Postgraduate Course, on Friday, August 26, Hepatitis School is a day-long (8:00 am–4:30 pm) interactive educational program providing an immersion in hepatitis B and C management, and clinical updates on new therapeutic modalities and approaches. The program will focus on the epidemiology and treatment of hepatitis B, the epidemiology of hepatitis C, assessing candidates for therapy, currently approved therapies for hepatitis C and the pipeline of new drug development for hepatitis C treatment, approaches to patients with HCV-HIV co-infection and how to navigate the complex insurance processes related to HCV treatment. Separate registration is required.

ACCREDITATION / CME / MOC
The American College of Gastroenterology is accredited by the American Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Midwest Regional Course
CME: The American College of Gastroenterology designates this live activity for a maximum of 12 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

MOC POINTS: Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to 12 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine’s (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program. Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider’s responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC points.

Hepatitis School
CME: The American College of Gastroenterology designates this live activity for a maximum of 8 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

MOC POINTS: Attend ACG’s Hepatitis School and earn 10 MOC points when you successfully complete the 30-question online module, which is free to all Hepatitis School attendees. Instructions on how to access the online MOC module will be provided at the conclusion of the program.

REGISTRATION
The registration fee includes admission to all sessions, continental breakfasts on Saturday and Sunday, lunch on Saturday, and refreshment breaks. NEW: Included with your registration is complimentary access to the course presentations via the ACG Mobile app. The app can be used to download faculty presentations onto tablets, mobile devices, and laptops, and provides note-taking/highlighting capabilities. Take notes at the event and continue reviewing them when you get home. Presentations will also be available online in PDF format. You will have access prior to the course to download or print the slides. (NOTE: A printed syllabus will not be available.) All registrants must pay the full registration fee; one-day registration is not available.
