ACG / LGS REGIONAL POSTGRADUATE COURSE

JOIN COLLEAGUES IN THE “BIG EASY.”

Designed to meet the needs of the entire GI practice, the American College of Gastroenterology and the Louisiana Gastroenterology Society invite colleagues from across the U.S. to join us at the ACG/LGS Regional Postgraduate Course, March 9-11, at the Hyatt French Quarter in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Led by Course Directors Ronald A. Leo, MD, and Daniel L. Raines, MD, FACG, leading experts will discuss such clinical topics as portal hypertension, NASH, hepatitis C, IBD, foregut surgical complications, and endoscopic mucosal resection. An expanded program on Sunday will focus on practice-related issues, such as CMS reimbursement, use of advanced practitioners, as well as supplemental pursuits, such as telemedicine, becoming an expert witness, and implementing clinical trials. Friday evening’s keynote presentation is, “Chronic PPI Therapy for GERD: Risks, Benefits, and Alternatives,” and Saturday’s luncheon talk will be, “Neurobiology of Stress and IBS.”

March 9-11, 2018

HYATT FRENCH QUARTER • NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION / REGISTRATION INFORMATION

ACCREDITATION / CME / MOC

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the American College of Gastroenterology and the Louisiana Gastroenterology Society. The American College of Gastroenterology is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The American College of Gastroenterology designates this live activity for a maximum of 10.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to 10.75 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program. Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The current pace of scientific discovery makes mastery of advancing knowledge, new diagnostic techniques, and progress in therapeutics a challenge for the gastroenterologist or generalist. At the same time, the rigors of the profession demand a deeper understanding of changes occurring within the healthcare system. This program will offer attendees experiences in both areas. During this program, new developments in and understanding about areas such as GERD therapy, liver disease, IBD, and endoscopy will be presented by nationally recognized experts, as will two sessions focused on enhancing and improving your practice's bottom line. The structure of the program includes a mix of didactic presentations delivered by expert faculty combined with interactive discussions. Attendees will leave the program ready to immediately implement the knowledge gained to improve their clinical practice. This program is designed for gastroenterologists, primary care physicians, nurses, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners interested in the latest developments in the science of gastroenterology and the art of health care.
