ACG'S HEPATOLOGY SCHOOL & SOUTHERN REGIONAL POSTGRADUATE COURSE

MARK YOUR CALENDAR FOR ACG'S HEPATOLOGY SCHOOL AND SOUTHERN REGIONAL POSTGRADUATE COURSE, NOVEMBER 30 - DECEMBER 2, AT THE JW MARRIOTT HOTEL IN NASHVILLE, TN.

ACG's Hepatology School, to be held on Friday, November 30, is a day-long interactive program that provides comprehensive education for GI clinicians in the diagnosis and treatment of a variety of liver disease states. This program is designed to better enable clinical gastroenterologists and their advanced practice provider colleagues to triage, treat, and refer patients more efficiently.

The Southern Regional Postgraduate Course, offered on Saturday and Sunday, December 1 and 2, will focus on topics such as: IBD, pancreatobiliary, liver, the future of MIPS, maximizing the use of advanced practice providers, upper GI, and lower GI. Hands-on sessions will also be offered on Saturday afternoon.

Both programs will take place at the new JW Marriott Hotel, located in the heart of downtown Nashville. Also known as Music City, U.S.A., Nashville is the premier destination for country music lovers. The Country Music Hall of Fame, as well as dozens of cafes and honky-tonks that showcase live music, are within walking distance.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

ACG's Hepatology School

Building on the success of ACG's prior Hepatitis School, the program has been expanded to provide comprehensive education for GI clinicians in the diagnosis and treatment of many other frequently diagnosed liver disease states. ACG's Hepatology School is designed to better enable clinical gastroenterologists and their advanced practice providers to triage, treat, and refer patients more efficiently. The program content is tailored to reflect the rapid changes in treatment options and national trends meeting the standard of care.

After completing ACG's Hepatology School, attendees will be able to summarize the current management options for HCV and HBV infections and understand the timeline of new drug development for the treatment of these infections. Participating in this educational activity will also enable learners to analyze the challenges of treating patients with NAFLD, end-stage organ disease, cirrhosis, hepatic encephalopathy, hepatocellular carcinoma, alcoholic liver disease and alcoholic hepatitis, metabolic liver disorders, primary biliary cholangitis, autoimmune hepatitis, and drug-induced liver injury. The structure of the program includes a mix of didactic presentations and case-based presentations delivered by expert faculty.

This program is designed for gastroenterologists, primary care physicians, nurses, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners interested in the latest information on liver diseases and state-of-the-art treatment of these illnesses.

Southern Regional Postgraduate Course

The introduction and advances of innovative diagnostic techniques and novel therapeutics has created an exciting range of approaches to many important areas of GI disease and patient care. This program is designed to address those compelling and controversial areas in the care of patients with gastrointestinal disease. During this course, multiple topics will be covered including inflammatory bowel disease, chronic pancreatitis, biliary strictures, transition of the pediatric liver patient to adult care, SIBO, the future of MIPS, maximizing the use of advanced practice providers, esophageal motility disorders, advanced polypectomy techniques, and FMT. A special Saturday lunchtime presentation on the female patient with IBD is also planned. The structure of the program includes a mix of didactic presentations delivered by expert faculty, question and answer periods, smaller afternoon general sessions, and non-CME hands-on workshop sessions. This program is designed for gastroenterologists, primary care physicians, nurses, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners interested in the latest information on diagnostic GI and liver diseases and state-of-the-art treatment of these illnesses.
